London & Puppies Get a Second Chance

It was just before Christmas when London was dumped at an open-intake shelter we partner with. She was not doing well in her kennel at this shelter and, being a pit bull, she was overlooked time and time again. Her eyes looked so defeated. Thanks to our transport partner, we were able to bring London to our shelter to find a home. It wasn't until this lovely lady arrived that we realized she was extremely pregnant. Instead of placing London into our kennels, we placed her into a foster home where in just a week she gave birth to seven beautiful puppies. London was such a good mother. She protected and cared for each of her puppies like only a mother could. She and her puppies stayed in our Foster Program for a few months so they could grow strong and healthy. London was so happy to be out of the kennel environment, too.

As the puppies grew, we spayed or neutered all of them as well as London. The puppies quickly found forever homes and London would give each one a kiss before they left. London was placed into our kennels, but quickly also found a home. She is now in a forever family with another Humane Society of Greater Dayton alumni, Pickles. Pickles and London are the best of friends and thanks to your support, London is so happy to have gotten the second chance she deserved.
